

Creating Values for Others: Vocational Schools provide relevant Qualifications (CREATIVO 2)

LED LIECHTENSTEIN
DEVELOPMENT SERVICE

Short Project Description

As part of the project, vocational schools develop entrepreneurial activities so that the students acquire relevant skills, and the schools can generate additional income.

In cooperation with and for private companies, needs-based further education courses are developed. Other schools focus on the development of businesses, such as a driving school attached to the vocational school (see photo).

The second phase of CREATIVO is implemented in close cooperation with selected Centers of Excellence. The project will enable these vocational schools to advise other schools on the development of training courses and entrepreneurial activities, all with a strong involvement of the students.

In addition, the development of a digital platform will give all vocational schools nationwide access to important resources and support services so that they can plan and implement entrepreneurial activities beyond the scope of the project.

Project Goals

- Young people and adults improve their employability through relevant vocational training.
- Centers of Excellence offer other vocational schools qualified support in the introduction of further education courses or entrepreneurial activities.
